

Dr Yee Chao

Department of Oncology Veterans General Hospital, Taipei, Taiwan.

Dr Yee Chao is Director of Department of Oncology of Taipei Veterans General Hospital, Taiwan. He also holds the academic position, Professor of Medicine at National Yang-Ming University, Taiwan. Previously, Dr Chao has held several academic positions concurrently with his clinical roles, including Lecturer and Associate Professor in Medicine at National Yang-Ming University.

Dr Chao received his Bachelor of medical science from Kaohsiung Medical College and went on to do his Ph.D. at the Institute of Clinical Medicine of National Yang-Ming University. He went on to do his Residency in internal medicine at Veterans General Hospital, before becoming Chief Resident and Attending Physician at the Division of Gastroenterology. Dr Chao is board certified in internal medicine, gastroenterology and medical oncology.

Dr Chao's academic research interests include the mode of action of anti-cancer therapies, specifically the clinical trials and molecular mechanism of tumour drug resistance. He has received numerous awards for his academic and clinical endeavours, including Clinical Teaching Merit Citation from Veterans General Hospital. He has authored and co-authored over 180 scientific manuscripts published in peer-review journals. Dr Chao is also member of several medical societies including American Society of Clinical Oncology, Society of Internal Medicine, Formosa Medical Association and Taiwan Gastroenterological Society.